This disclosure statement was prepared as at 1 November 2015.

It is important that you read this document.

This information is important and is intended to help you to make an informed decision on choosing a financial adviser that best suits your needs. We may also provide you with other information that can help with the financial decisions you make.

What sort of adviser are we?

NBS is a Qualifying Financial Entity (QFE) under the Financial Advisers Act 2008. This means employees of NBS may provide financial advice with regards to our products. As a QFE, NBS is responsible for any financial adviser services provided by our people, this includes making sure our advisers exercise care, diligence and skill in providing financial advice to you.

What are our products and services?

Our QFE advisers can provide financial adviser services in relation to the following types of category 2 products:

- Investment deposits (call and term) issued by NBS
- Transaction and savings accounts issued by NBS
- Loans, overdrafts, and other consumer credit contracts issued by NBS
- Other financial products such as debit transaction cards and foreign exchange transactions provided by NBS on behalf of Travelex, Western Union and MasterCard.

How do NBS advisers get paid for the services we provide to you?

NBS QFE Advisers will not charge you for any financial advice they provide and nor do they receive any direct remuneration for this advice. As NBS employees, their remuneration is primarily by way of salary. However, NBS QFE advisers may also receive a discretionary bonus in line with their performance and achievement of their specific targets as well as meeting quality and compliance standards.

What should you do if something goes wrong?

NBS aims to provide you with the highest quality of service at all times. If you have a problem, concern, or complaint about any part of our service, please let us know as soon as possible so we can resolve the issue in a timely fashion. We have an Internal Complaints Process to resolve any issues.

You should first contact your Personal Banker or local Branch Manager. If you are not satisfied with the outcome you can contact the Secretary of NBS at:

Address: Nelson Building Society
111 Trafalgar Street
NELSON 7010

PO Box 62
NELSON 7040

Telephone: (03) 548 2164
